

CONOR McDONALD
BARITONE

Lauded by the New York Times as “irresistible” and praised by Opera News for his “warm voice and winning personality,” baritone Conor McDonald was recently heard as a Filene Artist at Wolf Trap Opera, where he performed the title role in Gluck’s L’île de Merlin, the Major-Domo in Strauss’s Ariadne auf Naxos, as well as a recital of art songs at the Phillips Collection. Other recent engagements include Marchese d’Obigny in La Traviata with the Atlanta Opera; Captain Corcoran in H.M.S. Pinafore with Anchorage Opera; and Ponchel in Kevin Puts’s Silent Night and the Soldier in Stravinsky’s The Soldier’s Tale at the 2018 Glimmerglass Festival.

Based in New York since 2015, McDonald has performed as Junius in The Rape of Lucretia as a guest artist with CUNY Queens; the Traveler in Curlew River with the Mark Morris Dance Group at Brooklyn Academy of Music; and several appearances as baritone soloist with New York City Ballet, including Bernstein’s Dybbuk, Stravinsky’s Les Noces, and Brahms’s Liebeslieder Walzer. Performances for the 2019-2020 season included his debut with Austin Opera as Marullo in Rigoletto, a master class and recital at Lee University, where he performed art songs by Mussorgsky, Britten, Poulenc, and Milhaud with fellow Tanglewood alumna Dr. ChoEun Lee, and a workshop of The Halloween Tree with American Lyric Theater.

As a studio artist at Nashville Opera, Kentucky Opera, and Des Moines Metro Opera, McDonald was heard in such roles as Yamadori in Madama Butterfly, Pish-Tush in The Mikado, Harlekin in Ariadne auf Naxos, Elder McLean in Susannah, and the Cardinal and Priest in Philip Glass’s Galileo Galilei. He also performed the role of Dandini in Opera Iowa’s traveling production of La Cenerentola in 2016.

With an interest in the development of new works, McDonald has performed in workshops of newly commissioned operas coproduced by the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music and Cincinnati Opera, including Scott Davenport Richards’s Blind Injustice, Gregory Spears’s Fellow Travelers, Daniel Catán’s Meet John Doe, and Terence Blanchard’s Champion.

An active recitalist, McDonald has presented songs by Britten, Schubert, Ravel, Schumann, Debussy, Dessau, Mussorgsky, Eisler, and Weill.

A Minneapolis native, McDonald holds bachelor’s degrees in vocal performance and art history from Northwestern University, and a master’s degree in voice and opera from the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music, where he studied with Bill McGraw.

CRITICAL ACCLAIM

Ponchel – Silent Night – The Glimmerglass Festival

"With his warm voice and winning personality, Conor McDonald was a stand-out as the homesick French aide-de-camp Ponchel."
-Opera News

Hercules – Hercules vs. Vampires – Nashville Opera

"The standout performance was given by baritone Connor McDonald, singing the role of Hercules, whose robust voice filled the hall with a clear, glimmery richness that lends itself to modern opera. Even though he was not the focal point - that was the film itself - he committed to acting the role, making him a delight to watch as well."
-Schmopera

Traveler – Curlew River – Mark Morris Dance Group

"Conor McDonald, as the Traveller, sang beautifully... while playing a recognizable human being with genuine feeling..."
- ZealNYC

Pish-Tush – The Mikado – Kentucky Opera

"Conor McDonald's Pish-Tush was clever and even."
- Arts Louisville

Cardinal / Priest – Galileo Galilei – Des Moines Metro Opera

"Conor McDonald (Servant/Oracle) impressed with a steady, forward-placed baritone, especially as he intoned a relentless solo passage circling around the action on auto-pilot."
- Opera Today

Malatesta – Don Pasquale – CCM

"Baritone Conor McDonald's Malatesta, who... has the lion's share of the opera's difficult, patter arias, played his enabler role with flair."
-Cincinnati Enquirer

Jesus – St John Passion – CCM

"McDonald as Jesus displayed a warm baritone voice, submitting to his torture meekly but firmly..."
-Music in Cincinnati

Papageno – Die Zauberflöte – CCM

"Baritone Conor McDonald stole the show as Papageno, not only for his fine vocalism, but for his buffo comedic acting and the best diction onstage."
- Music in Cincinnati
